

FELLOWS PROGRAM

The Red Cell fellows program is a generalist program reporting to the Head of Operations. The fellows will work on projects and tasks for the Red Cell platform as well as the incubation companies.

The fellows program will be one of the avenues Red Cell employs to develop the next generation of leaders for our business. We will develop leaders to be operating partners for our incubations as well as future entrepreneurs. We will also develop individuals to lead divisions and teams inside of the RedCell platform.

The ideal individual exercises good judgment in a variety of situations and possess strong written and verbal communication skills as well as exceptional analytical abilities. Candidates should have a commercial mindset and both the ability and desire to lead teams. This person will be a valued member of the Red Cell organization and must be able to work under pressure and handle a wide variety of activities.

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- Market research in the healthcare and national security space
- Competitive and financial analysis
- Research projects for RedCell and incubations
- Provide support to other team leads outside of the COO team including - founders/CIO, marketing + communications, finance, and HR
- Balance multiple priorities, handling matters expeditiously and proactively

WHAT'S REQUIRED

- Excellent communication skills, both written and spoken
- Excellent judgement and professionalism when dealing with queries/requests from other senior executives within the Firm
- Proficiency with Microsoft Outlook, Excel, and Word
- Strong organizational skills that reflect ability to perform and prioritize multiple tasks seamlessly with excellent attention to detail
- Team-oriented mindset
- Commitment to the highest ethical standards

BENEFITS

- Remote-first work policy
- Competitive compensation
- Exposure to leadership
- Great culture!

APPLY

- Send an email and resume to recruiting@redcellpartners.com